OBJECTS AND REASONS

The object of the Bill is to provide for the more effective operation of the Electoral Commission established under section 56 of the Constitution. The Bill supports and gives fuller effect to the provisions of the Constitution that assign functions to the Commission relating to the registration of electors and the conduct of elections. It is a companion measure to the Draft Registration of Electors Bill, 2024 and the Draft House of Assembly (Elections) Bill, 2024.

The Bill has 20 clauses set out in four Parts. There are three Schedules.

Clause 1 states the short title of the proposed Act and in Clause 2 certain terms used in the Bill are defined.

Clause 3 provides for the Electoral Commission while Clause 4 articulates the objectives of the Commission.

Clause 5 sets out the functions of the Commission: it reflects those functions that are assigned by the Constitution, as well as specific functions specified in the clause that are consistent with the Commission's constitutional mandate. The function of the Commission with respect to referenda is made explicit.

Clause 6 reflects a principle stated in the Constitution – that in performing its functions the Commission shall not be subject to the direction or control of anybody or authority.

Clause 7 reflects the provisions of the Constitution relating to the office of Chief Elections Officer. It sets out, in addition to the functions assigned to the Chief Elections Officer, some specific activities that must be undertaken in the performance of such functions. The clause also specifies the procedure to be followed for resignation and, pursuant to the power given under the

2024 ELECTORAL COMMISSION ACT

Constitution, prescribes the age of 55 years as the age at which the Chief Elections Officer must vacate office. Provision is made for an oath of office to be taken by the Chief Elections Officer.

Clause 8 makes provision for the appointment of a secretary to the Commission and such other staff as the Commission may require to carry out its work.

Clause 9 prescribes an oath of secrecy to be taken by the staff of the Commission on appointment.

Clause 10 preserves the validity of any notice, form or document issued by the Chief Elections Officer or an employee of the Commission that may contain an error or defect, unless it is declared null and void by a court or other tribunal.

Clause 11 provides for the protection of the Chief Elections Officer and members and employees of the Commission from suit for action done in good faith in the performance of their functions under electoral laws.

Clauses 12 to 14 contain the financial provisions relating to the Commission. These include the establishment of the Electoral Commission Fund, the source of monies to be placed in the Fund. The Commission is required to prepare and submit annual estimates of revenue and expenditure, to keep proper accounts and to cause its accounts to be audited by auditors which it must appoint annually. The Director of Audit is specifically authorised to have access to and examine the account and records of the Commission at any reasonable time.

Under Clause 15 the Commission is required to prepare an annual report on its activities and to submit the report together with the statement of account and auditors' report for tabling in the House. The Commission is authorised under Clause 16 to make regulations, and is given explicit power to issue directives, guidelines and

Clause 17 prescribes a Code of Conduct to be subscribed by members of the Commission (and members of specified committees) and by the Chief Elections Officer and employees, while Clause 18 requires the disclosure by persons connected with the Commission (or one of its committees) of any personal interest in a matter before the Commission or committee.

Clause 19 makes it clear that nothing in the proposed Act must be construed to affect the operation of the Commission or any action or decision of the Commission or the Chief Elections Officer taken before the date on which the Act takes effect.

The First Schedule contains details relating to the Commission, including provisions relating to the conduct of meetings.

In the Second Schedule the forms of the oaths required to be taken under the Act are set out.

The Third Schedule contains the Code of Conduct.
